Course Objectives – Objectifs du cours :

A wide range of socio-economic outcomes in both developed and developing countries can be traced back to early life conditions. This course will use standard theoretical and empirical tools to study the importance and determinants of child development. We will study why and how parents invest in their children's health, cognitive and non-cognitive skills and how this affects social mobility and inequality. We will also discuss the role of public policy and institutions in fostering early childhood development. The course will focus on how to use state-of-the-art reduced form econometric methods to address these questions.

Prerequisites – Pré requis :

All students should be familiar with econometric methods covered in M1.

Practical information about the sessions – Modalités pratiques de gestion du cours :

Grading system – Modalités d'évaluation :

- Homework/projects + class participation (30%)
- Final Exam (70%)

Bibliography/references – Bibliographie/références:
