

COMPETITION LAW & ECONOMICS

Our Executive Education program in Competition Law and Economics is aimed at professionals - lawyers, business people, economists - and academics, who wish to develop state-of-the-art skills in the growing field of competition policy.

We offer a unique possibility to learn from some of the best industrial organization economists and competition law practitioners in the world how to bridge the gap between cutting-edge economic theory and empirical economics with the practice of European competition law.

THE PROGRAMS

Seminars

📍 Brussels

Every year we organize one-day seminars to present to practitioners (lawyers, economists and inside counsels), competition agency officials and academics the latest thinking in industrial organization and the economics of competition. Special attention will be given to platform markets and markets for new technologies, such as Artificial Intelligence. Top TSE economists, including Nobel laureate Professor Jean Tirole, will talk about their latest research in these areas and discuss their implications for practice.

Courses

📍 Toulouse

TSE Executive Education offers regular and advanced courses. Our regular courses bring up to speed practitioners, competition agency officials and academics with recent developments in the economics of competition. We will discuss the relevant economic and legal principles, apply those principles to assess actual cases and then put them into practice in a mock case. The advanced courses will further develop the understanding of participants on the most cutting-edge methodologies and arguments used in antitrust and merger cases around the world. Our goal is to help create an elite group of competition experts who can make a mark in how competition cases are analyzed in the future.
