Call for Papers

Aims and Scope

The objective of this conference, organized by the Toulouse School of Economics, is to bring together researchers working in the field of the economics of education, to present and discuss their research. The conference will welcome two keynote speeches, 6 to 8 contributed sessions (2 papers in each) and no parallel session. We will invite discussants for papers in the contributed sessions (we aim for presentations of about 35 minutes per paper + 15 minutes for discussion and questions).

Keynote Speakers

Peter Arcidiacono, Duke University
Christian Belzil, École Polytechnique and ENSAE

Research Themes

We welcome papers in the economics of education and related topics such as on-the-job training, skill development, early childhood, school market design... We particularly welcome empirical papers that result from (semi-)structural estimation of economic models.

Organizers

Olivier De Groote, Toulouse School of Economics
François Poinas, Toulouse School of Economics
Gyung-Mo Kim, Toulouse School of Economics

Program Committee Members

Matteo Bobba (TSE), Olivier De Groote (TSE), Paul Diegert (TSE), Ana Gazmuri (TSE), Thierry Magnac (TSE), Arnaud Maurel (Duke), Maximilian Müller (TSE), François Poinas (TSE).

Submission

Authors are invited to submit complete papers or extended abstracts. Papers will be evaluated and selected by the program committee.

Submission link: to submit your paper, click here.

Submission deadline: February 29th (11:59pm Central European Time at the latest)

Funding

There is no registration fee and lunches and a conference dinner will be provided. Participants in contributed sessions will need to cover their own travel and accommodation expenses. Funding will be available for young researchers (PhD students, postdocs, and assistant professors) with no/limited funding. Candidates must signal this request when submitting their paper.
